OAHU ISLAND ASSOCIATION.

Third Day.

The Association held its final session at Ewa Friday morning. It was voted to hold a special meeting Saturday, May 30, to examine and license to preach the students of the North Pacific Missionary Institute. The Association were specially interested in the reports in regard to the various boarding schools. One of the pastors has six children in two of the schools. He is not, of course, able to pay himself the expenses; but "where there is a will there is a way," and he has found friends to help him in giving these boys and girls the special advantages of education in these Christian boarding schools. A decided preference was expressed for Makiki as the site of the proposed new Kamehame-ha School for Girls, instead of Palama, as suggested by some. One of the pastors had induced several of his people, Mormons and Catholics also, to put money in the Postal Savings Bank, so that when their children grow up, the parents may have the money to pay for their education, when they arrive at the suitable age to enter the boarding schools. What to do for the young Hawaiians who have been educated in the schools, but are not to be found in our churches, was discussed with great interest. The Secretaries of the Hawaiian Board were appointed a committee to confer with P. C. Jones, Esq., whose interest in young Hawaiians is well known among them, and devise some plan to save to the church and to Christian life these young men and women, now wandering away from duty and the true use and enjoyment of life. The matter of a distinctively religious newspaper was referred to a committee to bring before the General Association next June. In discussing the subject of church buildings, the desire was expressed that every paster should have a room especially set apart for study and for consultation with those who may wish advice or instruction. Pastors were urged to see to it that the grounds around church and parsonage were kept in a neat and attractive condition.

Mrs. M. S. Rice has done much to bring about a better state of things in this respect by her gift to the Hawaiian Board of a fund to furnish garden tools and carpenter tools to every pastor who will apply for them and use them. Four delegates were chosen to the General Association to meet at Honolulu next June. The next meeting of the Island Association was appointed at Waialua, the first Wednesday in October.

The Sunday School Association met in the afternoon. A children's service was held, to which the scholars of the public school near the church were invited. Brief addresses were made, hymns sung, Scriptures read and expounded. An interesting feature of the devotional exercises of the Island Association was the reading of the Scripture selections in unison. It was voted to give a Bible to every Sundayschool scholar who would read to his pastor or superintendent 200 selected verses of Scripture.
